POMFRET CENTER

Behind the scenes, as usual, with its Welcome Home Fourth of July celebration. The various committees under the efficient leadership of Dr. Joseph Clark Hoppin, chairman, worked zealously with very satisfactory results. The procession started at the head of the street and marched to the green in front of the Congregational church. The parade was led by Major Dr. F. G. Goodridge, mounted, whose aides were Lieut. Stanton D. Wickes and Lieut. Owen Stanley. A Goodyear band followed. Next marched the soldiers and sailors of Pomfret and Woodstock, led by Col. Allerton S. Cushman. Following were several richly decorated cars carrying the veterans of '61. These were led by L. L. Lorillard's car and preceded the Red Cross in uniform, both in cars and marching. The Pomfret war bureau and the Pomfret school children were in decorated cars and floats. One of the notable floats were those of Wolf Den grange, No. 61, decorated in green and gold, the grange colors, and carrying the grange degree team. The Pomfret Neighborhood association had an attractive float featuring Miss Edith Briggs as Goddess of Liberty. Woodstock Community association had three excellent historical floats illustrating three periods of our national history—The Spirit of 1776, The Spirit of 1861 and The Spirit of 1916. The costumes and characters were accurate and won much praise for Woodstock. The Pomfret Red Cross had a most attractive float driven by Charles Kempton. This represented the work of the Pomfret Landing section.

The formal program opened with prayer by Rev. Father John J. Elly of Pomfret, and singing by Pomfret Liberty chorus, led by Arthur Roberts as soloist. Dr. Olmstead of the Pomfret school gave a brilliant address of welcome, which was responded to by Col. Allerton S. Cushman, who had charge of the Franklin Avenue church during the war. Colonel Cushman made a stirring and forcible address which dealt with the future problems of our nation. Evidently his remarks struck a very responsive chord in the audience.

After music, Capt. Nelson Platt, one of the Pomfret boys, spoke in an interesting manner to the boys in uniform, and Harry Wells of Woodstock gave the response in behalf of the Woodstock boys. Following music by the Liberty chorus, the chairman, Dr. Joseph Hoppin, in behalf of the town, presented medals to each soldier and sailor, also medals to each of the war workers, performing this pleasing duty after a brief felicitous address. Singing of America and benediction by Rev. P. H. Bristol closed the morning. Lunch followed.

In the afternoon there were various athletic events, the first being a ball game between Pomfret and Ben Hur team of Uxbridge, which was won by Pomfret.

The evening dancing was enjoyed in the pavilion and was followed by fireworks.

The only incident to mar an otherwise perfect day was the noise of various forms of fireworks near the green that seriously interfered with the effect of the speeches, annoying both speakers and audience.

Age of Achievement.
Surely then there is a place for the middle aged, even for the older worker. If most of the eminent men in the world had actually died at forty, leaving out only a few soldiers and a few lyric poets like Keats and Shelley, or even if they had died at fifty or sixty, the world would be a sorry, barbaric place, indeed. For it is hardly necessary to say that no end of actual accomplishments have been made of the age of achievement, and they always hit an average of fifty. This is true in both peace and war. Dr. W. A. N. Dorland some years ago studied the careers of 400 of the world's most eminent men in every line and found that the average at which mental activity began was twenty-four, and that the masterpieces of work, whether books, battles, poems, inventions, discoveries or business ventures, came at the average of fifty, ranging for various groups from forty-one to fifty-eight. Counterfeits.

Read what one of the GREATEST NEWSPAPERS IN AMERICA has to say on this subject:

"The manufacturers of Castoria have been compelled to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to familiarize the public with the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. This has been necessitated by reason of pirates counterfeiting the Castoria trademark. This counterfeiting is a crime not only against the proprietors of Castoria, but against the growing generation. All persons should be careful to see that Castoria bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, if they would guard the health of their children. Parents, and mothers in particular, ought to carefully examine the Castoria advertisements which have been appearing in this paper, and to remember that the wrapper of every bottle of genuine Castoria bears the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, under whose supervision it has been manufactured continuously for over thirty years."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Fletcher's
CASTORIA

Bringing Up Baby.

When Adam ate the Apple we heard nothing about its effect on his stomach, but we do know, or ought to know, about the effect of all eatables given our children. This knowledge is necessary to all mothers, and the deaths among infants indicate that much information along this line is needed.

On this subject many works have been published, but most of them so technical and complicated as to be unintelligible to the lay mind. Food, hygiene and proper clothing must be learned by all mothers—they must study them, know them. Do you?

Around every bottle of Fletcher's Castoria is a booklet in plain, everyday language that all can understand, put there by the advice and approval of physicians. Will you read it?

Fletcher's Castoria has been in use so many years that it is a waste of words to praise it, but because of the many substitutes and imitations we endeavor to protect the babies by keeping before the public the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and a copy of the wrapper. It is your only safeguard.

Was Last Polish King.
In 1798, on the 11th of April, Stanislaus Poniatowski, the last king of Poland, died. Poniatowski ascended the Polish throne in 1764. The condition of Poland required a strong man on the throne to keep the country from ruin, and Stanislaus lacked the necessary strength and statesmanship. Russia, Prussia and Austria divided this kingdom among them and the deposed king retired to Petrograd on a pension, where he died in 1798.

A Great Man.
A great man is he who chooses the right in unhesitating resolution, who registers the correct conclusions from within and without, who bears the heaviest burdens cheerfully, who is calmest in storms and most fearless under frowns, whose reliance on truth, on virtue, on God, is most unflinching. I believe this greatness to be most common among the multitude, whose names are never heard.—W. E. Channing.

The Chrysanthemum.
The first date of the introduction of the chrysanthemum to occidental gardens is 1764, at Chelsea, where Philip Miller received a living plant from Nippon and brought it to flower. An obscure record notes the fact that in the preceding century a plant bloomed at Danzig. The continuous record begins with Pierre Blancard, a gardener of Marseilles, in November, 1808. Having been a sailor he had made the acquaintance of these plants in China and Japan. Two plants of all that he had brought back from the Orient came into blossom in Marseilles, and these he carried in the diligence to Paris. There he had them, through the influence of a Marseilles man in the palace, introduced to the favor of the Empress Josephine. With her gracious approval, the plant took its proper place in ornamental gardening and has advanced steadily in popularity. One of the odes of Confucius is addressed to the chrysanthemum, and is: "Its shining glory, its delicate petals hanging around the center in showers of golden threads, and its insensibility to which the light of the sun has been filtered 10,000 times."
